

To whom it may concern,

As a drumming facilitator, and African, I wholly endorse the aims and objectives of '20,000 drums'. This project is a global showcase and expression of what is possible when people come together and celebrate the spirit of community. Not only is it important for the end result, but also as an example of a process that can benefit communities throughout Africa. The event will demonstrate that, working together, it is possible to bridge the cultural differences and mitigate the adverse circumstances that weigh heavily on the hopes and dreams of the continent's children.
